V. Old Business:

- a. PSE Update
 - i. Sally Taylor and the group discuss direction that PSEs are headed in.
 - 1. Joanne Lebrun –
 - a. We had a lengthy discussion on this. We even had a date. We had decided to keep the PSE in its current form until the testing window has expired for all those who had a need to re-test.
 - b. Sally Taylor asks, more so, who is going to be in charge of these as programs transition. Also, there are re-entry candidates.

2. Leah Mitchell–
 - a. This is a Maine EMS exam. Colleges don't have the bandwidth to support this with portfolios. This needs to move beyond training centers.
3. Joanne Lebrun
 - a. Discusses the possibility of Maine EMS being able to contract with a training center to support and run PSEs. Discusses possible intervals for holding PSEs and costs.
4. Paul Froman asks the group what the true impact of PSEs actually is, and how long do we need to continue PSEs for re-entry candidates and others. Do we need to develop a different pathway for re-entry candidates?
5. Sally Taylor discusses Paul Froman's question.
 - a. We don't know, quarter to quarter, how many re-entries there are going to be.
 - b. PSEs must be maintained until both all training centers have transitioned to PSEs and for two years after the last class using PSEs has completed.
6. Joanne Lebrun discusses concerns regarding high school program transition to PSEs regarding length of time PSEs must be maintained.
7. Eric Wellman explains that any CTE programs which are affiliated with SMCC will be changing to portfolio. However, at this time, transition is optional for CTEs. We should have some data to estimate how many candidates will still need PSEs in the future. The number of resources it takes to run a PSE decreases the likelihood that training centers who have transitions will continue running PSEs. The bandwidth is too great to do both.
8. Sally Taylor discusses some current re-entry candidate numbers.
9. Mike Drinkwater relates that there are three CTE programs that he knows of who have transitioned to portfolios. The various programs may be in different places regarding transition, depending upon which training centers they are affiliated with.
10. Joanne Lebrun discusses the coming Board evaluation of EMT portfolio data to make a decision regarding whether or not to keep that process. Advises that the group should be prepared to get some data and prepare a report for the Board regarding status and a recommendation. Otherwise, the window for maintaining PSEs will stay open.
11. Joanne Lebrun discusses whether or not there may be any PSE alternatives and discusses. Discussion by the group.
12. Chris Azevedo discusses the path that NREMT is taking with PSEs for AEMT and paramedic. It is unclear what they are going to do for re-entry candidates at those levels, once those PSEs are sunsetted in July 2024.

- a. Some options include, but are not limited to:
 - i. Sending PSE candidates to other states
 - ii. Contracting a training center to run PSEs
 - iii. Developing a course for re-entry candidates that will satisfy the skills verification requirement.

b. EMT Skills Portfolio Update

- i. Eric Wellman gives an update on MCCS program transition.
 - 1. SMCC and YCCC have run at least six cohorts under portfolios. The program has been under constant review and update as it has been run.
 - 2. Discusses pass rates for EMT cognitive exams for first attempt and sixth attempt. Overall, pass rates have improved significantly, overall, with the cohorts using portfolios. Discusses some of the changes in program support that were required with implementation of portfolios and the differences they made.
 - 3. At the same time, feedback from employers reflects greater graduate demonstrated confidence and performance.
- ii. Sally Taylor and Leah Mitchell discuss some positive feedback she's had from employers of portfolio process graduates.
- iii. Sally Taylor recommends training centers conducting instructor orientation and education on the portfolios and the portfolio process.

c. Training Center Standards

- i. Review and discussion of Training Center Standards revision INTERP #8.
- ii. Chris Azevedo shares his screen with the group and Eric Wellman reviews the changes.
 - 1. The remainder of subsection 8 – Training Center Fair Practices standards is covered, which completes review of the standards revisions for the standards requirements.
- iii. The next steps in the process are to
 - 1. Incorporate the group feedback into the standards and interpretations documents
 - 2. Complete the formatting work and present the group with finished copies of both documents for a second review by the group.
 - 3. The finished document should be ready for distribution to the committee for final review at the March meeting. At that time, committee members can take the month of March to review it on their own and make suggestions, if needed.
 - 4. The committee can make the decision to vote for approval or for revision at the April meeting.
