Trauma Coordinators	Tammy Lachance reported that the 2015 MCOT conference will be November 11, 2015. The theme for this year's conference will be "Good Medicine in Bad Places", and Len Jacobs will be the keynote speaker. Rick reported that the Trauma Coordinators met with Jon Powers from Maine EMS and the Injury Prevention Coordinators/Registrars from each of the Trauma Centers. There were 2 primary topics for consideration: Data Collection-Jon Powers spoke about the Possibility of a standardized Trauma Data Bank and solicited feedback from the Trauma Coordinators about the development of such a System. TC's concerned about cost, and the difficulty with transferring existing data. Jon will look into some possible solutions and get back to the group. Injury Prevention – The group discussed the possibility of a statewide injury prevention project, and settled on a falls prevention initiative. The group will begin collecting information on the project best practices from each Trauma Center, and then develop a project to administer statewide.	Informational

Other	Nerve Blocks in Trauma Patients being transferred to a Trauma Center – Dr. Reilly CMMC had a patient with whom the sending facility did a nerve block prior to sending the patient. There was a concern that this might mask compartment syndrome. Consensus of the TAC was that this was an appropriate procedure to control pain and should be encouraged. Management of Head Injured Patients- Dr. Savadove spoke of his experience working with head injured patients and offered to do presentation at the next TAC meeting on this topic, possible following a case presentation involving a TBI patient. The TAC agreed this would be a good topic for discussion. Jay Bradshaw – This will be Jay’s last meeting. He will be retiring from Maine EMS effective September 1. The TAC thanked Jay for his dedication and contribution to the Trauma system in Maine and wished him well in his retirement	Informational Informational Informational
